10/12/16 was the day I believed in God.

How did I know to shake everyone's hand you meet in Europe and how did you know to shake women's hand different? Keep looking people in the eye when you talk to them. If I look at someone first you might be able to read their attitude.

You might claim that God is telling you how to think but you are too by informing about something that interests you or educates me such as math because knowledge and time is not endless for us. Even no religion is taking a side. You haven't proven Atheism to be fact. That is your belief system. Here's how it gets worse for you, you can make a case for me to become President of America; you cannot make a case that God does not exist, humans have never disproven God and never will, I might literally laugh at you if you say "it can be done in the future". No wonder why they keep attacking our religions with condescending "comedians", if they questioned God's existence it would get their viewers to believe because most believe in good and evil / right from wrong. They cannot dispute God, no one can do it, if they are honest with their means, they will believe.

We followers of Abraham study scripture and how it applies in order to help us in the real world. Also, Atheism is not counted; we refer to these people as disbelievers in our Abrahamic religions because we know you still believe in something that you have no yet discovered and will never in this universe. I will try my best to explain this, without prayer you do not have a connection with God at all; you reject prayer as a concept. I know you are smart enough to understand that it is not for repenting for our past, it is for the future. God forgives us for our pasts because he loves us, we do not have to keep asking him for it. It says to "pray constantly" in the Bible, this is to help you better understand what it means because we have to be out in the public to work, God is not asking for most of our free time, prayer helps us if that were the case than the Apostles would not have lived like the rest of us, they had hobbies after all. I tell this to everyone it is your choice how much you want to pray, I know they are responsible about it. It's easy for me because it takes not even 20 seconds. I know you know this but many of you accept that prayer is good, you don't take it to the next step asking "who is hearing me"? All you do is say that you do it for hope, but the hope would just be to yourself.

In "Atheism", they claim that organisms evolved, but the organisms don't have a brain because it is not developed yet, what caused them to evolve? What was the driving force? My brain helps tell me to pick an object up, that is driving force. Another point is that Atheists cannot use any theory as knowledge against me because they cannot confirm it. We can confirm that I get a bruise if I fall, they can use that as evidence. They can only theorize that there are other planets that no one has seen them.

It was unethical leaving China in a bad spot though Nicholas II did everything he could to build up China. Plus, they viewed their enemies as a tool to expand their empires as if Christianity was somehow a way to kill others who didn't hand over their assets. The Communist movement had started in China for a better life, Nicholas II would have crushed it and the movement would not have gotten more than 10% public support. If I think using part of China as ports was unethical, well no because the ports helped elevate everyone's standard of living at a very small cost of land. Slavery of the Chinese through hard labor was unethical. As my teacher told me it will hurt empires in the end by making its citizens lives so easy at the expense of others. What only I seem to get is that every leader has a reason behind what they are doing whether you agree with it or not but some actions they do are just tyrannical and I will say that sometimes we have no clue why they do it. Chinese people didn't need to be threatened to get them to work or overworked, I don't think Mao was laughing or saying "we will be number one, keep it up!" Mao dressed up workers a certain way was to tell them "get to work, don't slack". This was to make sure that people did not choose the previous alternative of doing nothing at all for work. As my teacher who lived in China in the 70's told me, if you spoke out, they would kill you. This was not a form of revenge but protection that was never needed because the worker wanted to see China do better, small fixes would not have hurt China. I also don't think he carried out an order for genocides or famines against the people because what was happening had happened so fast, he had no time to think of doing such an event but I could be wrong. I'm going to have to say he was a good human being. Most Christians will not tell you that either because they think that Christianity should be protected when there is so much good that can be done for the world if we show what it can accomplish because no one trusts China if it will expand or not. China probably will attempt to but I will not allow that because of Jesus Christ. They don't see the other side in Vietnam where Christians were dying to help protect the Vietnamese; they just assume "oppressor" or worse "dumbass" when they don't see the morals instilled in these fighters. This is why schools fail; they don't teach you why your leaders do things! They just say "corporations" without giving the opposition a say which treats us like we are animals who wouldn't understand why their wealth goes up when taxes are cut. All they respond with is "greed."

Since marriage is a ritual, no Atheist can practice it. On that note, I want to honor marriage, how many people say that? I want to my marriage that could happen to mean something, not something you do out of love for another person or to join others who are married. How many people do you know would say that to you?

A "Gentile" is just someone who isn't part of People of the Book. It is not an insult in any way; we can trust these people especially in today's world. There are good Gentiles; we just don't owe anything to them, we are encouraged to be friendly to them based on the People of the Book scripture though some Zoroastrians for example may be hostile towards the public. There are some very good once fake Jewish Gentiles (the Soviet Union got them dump Talmudic religion in favor of the state) that we can now trust, who only want there to be a Zionist state, they just don't understand that it is not about ethnicity at all or else they would want to deport all of them. After all, they could immigrate to Palestine; most would prefer to stay in America or go to any other country. The best way to explain it to them is this, first that they are from South of Russia, all we are asking is for them to move back there, just not Palestine; that is 100% fair. There are plenty of you that I can trust where your family brought you to college because they wanted what was best and they told you to stay with your own not knowing why they wanted that. This is almost funny because their parents probably said "yeah I don't get it either" when their kid objected to its knowing that their son or daughter didn't do it on purpose. There are plenty of women that have married out of it not knowing what they have been saved from. I can tell one of them isn't a part of that cult because she never told us how to think, she liked us. These people are not enemies of Allah, they are Gentiles. Even the ones who you can't reason with want to do the right thing in life. How are they enemies of Allah? They let you be their neighbors; you can show them how peaceful Islam is. Many don't want to hear this, tell them to be Christian, tell them that you like Christians. If only people knew that part of the Constitution of Medina written by Muhammad himself was required for us to treat non People of the Book well. We have to provide them with freedom of religion and independence. We accept them in our societies.

Conservatism is not absolute theory because you do not know the decibel of a .00084% rate of tax. Capitalism is not infallible either because the markets will never be "perfect." Also, how much education do students need to get the highest output in the workplace?

Why do you care about what others think about you? I thought you wanted success. You are wasting your time form research when you worry about what others think of you. Trust you judgment.

Power corrupts, so I believe they touched our book that is why we question verses. In revelation, it states very clearly not to touch the Bible.

These people are declaring war on you at home. Others may use the terms control or buying your vote if they choose. They want you to talk about sports, scandals, celebrities, politics, and social issues. Those who are part of this are there to say "hey, hey, look over here!!!" Many of them disagree with how to run countries and will get passionate arguing with one another over something basic like tax raises on the middle class. They both agree on their Zionism. Leaving that aside, we don't know who on the TV box is being sincere and who is trying to distract us. I will tell you this, anything goes in their constitution. If not, they will fund a revolution here in America to change their constitution. Many countries had crosses in their flags and I will show why they were in them. A revolution started by the government would never happen in a Christian nation like the Austrian Hungarian Empire that operated under their interpretation of the Bible. This is why America's Founding Fathers wanted to separate church from state and to "keep the world safe." This is why many of your politicians are lawyers; they decide based on America's Constitution who to go to war with and what the general public wants, you want the ones who are most wise after all. Still don't believe me? The first amendment states you cannot make a law based on your religion. If this isn't convincing enough, the Islamic term "Sharia Law" that Fox News uses to scare you means "way" or "path." It's no wonder why the Portuguese Republic ended in 1974 followed by François Spain in 1976 where the countries religion was Roman Catholicism and was directly involved with politics and schools. Now Iran seems to be one of their targets where Christianity is represented/recognized in office there. Granted in a minority status but for you to bring that up means you missed my point entirely. Now you see what America's path is! It is impossible for me to vote in America because I cannot serve office. I am not allowed a say whatsoever, it is their direction.

During WWII, the Germans who were Christians were better soldiers and were winning most of the battles with the Soviets and were far outnumbered. I don't view it as an accident, better strategies, or training etc. I'm certain most of the Soviets supported their country. Atheists agree that everything has an end on this Earth. Humans will never prevent aging on their own. There are plenty of good Atheists who just want to do the right thing and don't want us to push our religion on you, I appeal to you. I cannot and do not intend to shame you. There are those who use Atheism as a way to insult others or feel good about themselves, I do not give them legitimacy because I really don't think they believe and it is because of their environment or it's because they don't drive a Porsche.

The reason for previous inner fighting religious wars is because one group felt threatened or thought that by killing those who they declare leaving the religion that meant they were wrong and that both sides must fight to the death. Same with persecution though leaders of the religion may have done it as an excuse to kill others, this is the truth and I do not hide it from you.

There are those who think that with open borders and without religion, there would be no wars. I can't see how any of that are possible thanks to greed, division, and environment. Not only that, do they intend to kill those who don't agree with one race and their school of thought? Are they just going to attack the one who started the war in other countries? What if both sides are at fault? What if the citizens want wars? I'm trying not to laugh about this.

I saw a video of women getting her head cut off in Saudi Arabia. With respect to her, I will not say the crime she committed. Most would say that is barbaric, I don’t see it as such. The death penalty works, we know by numbers. I feel she is dying in honor; I'd rather my head chopped off than to be tied down and injected. Who is the West to judge? As long as there's absolutely no kids are around than I see no issue with this. I'd prefer her to be drugged so she doesn't feel it. Saudi Arabia does it out of decency; it's the same as lining up people and shooting them during war. Who are you to judge? It's perfectly fine if you don't agree and you share it with others while mocking them. Remember, if you are shaming me for this, you are imposing your will on me.

Muslims who willingly don't live under Sharia Law believe that it is the right path to live in a Non Muslim run country to give Islam a good image which of course I allow. Or they feel that the country helps Islam out by allowing it in the country. What could be better than Religious Law? The religious keeps you, the world, and society safe, that's what it's there for. The law has your back, whereas the country has your back if you obey in America. Don't think of the term "Religious Law" as something to fear or as oppression because the alternative is freedom which means freedom of those who don't believe in Religious Law. We can use the term Path because every country has a path, this is a fact. I would prefer the term Path or Way at this point and it will probably stay for the rest of my life. Remember that in freedom, you can openly slander (blasphemy) God in public..... I obviously would never carry myself to do that and I don't need to be told not to, it was just defined like marriage in my humble opinion. How could I ever talk myself into it? What would go through your head to do so? Would I ever stab someone in the back willingly? Do you hit your parents for fun? He gave me life (without it I don't exist), freedom, health, path, and peace. That's all I could ever ask for. I know I've had my ups and downs in the past but I would never purposely disgrace him. I would feel immense shame afterwards if I did it. Any doubt in my brain that I would do it, at this point just think, would I walk into the center of Boston and you get the point. They need at least the majority to follow their freedom just so you can't slander him, but it looks like it didn't work here since it failed. Their "freedom" won, I'm 100% not responsible for it, oh well. Freedom is how you define it because I classify as being able to leave a country as freedom. I'm never going to a country on the basis of their freedom only to slander God in public that is never convincing enough....am I right? They have laws here in America after all and I don't feel oppressed by them. I will say it again, he gave me a chance.

You didn't even know what a Muslim was up until 1970, it's not like they lacked the funds to attack or that they were breeding people to attack you. Even ISIS (invented in 2006), they do it because they believe, and they care but they don't the damage they are doing to their own followers. It makes me particularly upset because many Iraqis have lost hope but because ISIS has the arms, they join up. What is going on in Iraq is a Civil War where the Sunnis don't want to be alone. I ask you to look up all the groups who have joined alongside ISIS if you don't believe me. I can safely say that the Iranian people do not want war with you or their neighbors. They have been through a war, many of the youth’s parents would not allow it. Ruhollah Khomeini in an interview made it very clear that he did not want war but to be peaceful through democratic means. You may question some of what they do within their country, but understand it isn't done in revenge or oppression. In fact, the Iranians do not dislike you at all, they will leave you alone and you are free to visit. I'm not seeking to argue with you if you disagree.

The dilemma that these people have is that in Lebanon they will get arms somehow if they are invaded even if someone illegally does it from within another country. So, what our enemy does is try to arm as many religious, economic, social, groups as possible for wars that never end regardless of the scale of them until people get up and leave or just join with our common enemy.

Wars up until the end of WWI were a way of deciding what land are my empires and what land are your empires.

He wants you to live amongst the poor because he wants you to care, if the poor are so unreasonable than leave it.

Ask if your actions are helping or hurting Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. You have to ask yourself if telling others to hate is good or bad for the religion because there are millions of Iraqi's and Palestinians who do not listen to you telling them to hate their neighbors so what you are doing is not working, get over it. You know who you are.

The world is nowhere near perfect and death is tragic for those who are affected by losing their loved ones but celebrate because they are going to a better place for them because of their suffering or old age etc. will cease. Just think everyone dies so it was tragic for someone else who loved them regardless of the condition or age whether younger or older more doesn't matter. There is confusion on earth; people die of old age, what more proof do you need? There is no perfect society, and we will never have all the knowledge of the earth until it ceases. Then we are brought back to life, judged, and God decides what happens next to us. God says to people "don't worry I am here with you" it can't get any greater than that.

Without these three religions, the Romans and Pagans win. It does not matter the division in the three religions. If the Romans had won than they could have made you submit to them or the state. Romans started to get it when they justified why they went to war hence why they were the strongest empire but that wasn't enough for true progress meaning they were stuck and the wars were never going to end. In Paganism and Roman cult, you don't have to believe in Truth or laws meaning that they can write their own laws and dispute Truth because it is not defined for them. Their superiors could laugh at corruption, kill at free will, or just not care about anything which means that there would be new states, empires etc. formed at any time. The same goes for every other religion until they can show me the original source instead of having it defined later on thanks to ethics. God wrote your ethics because he can read your mind since he created you. I will go with the one who can read my mind verses you since he created ethics. We can point right to a verse and show how crucial it is for society because we obey God's word.

Since us Christians and Muslims accept Jesus as Christ our savior that means that the Zionists want the Anti-Christ.

Muslim women are not allowed to marry Jewish and Christian men because Muslim women must submit to their husbands. If Muslim women were to follow this law, than they would have to convert to Christianity because it is his belief system. Submitting would mean taking his word for it. That doesn't seem unjust at all to me.

Look at how big Fort Antonia is; is it even possible to make such architecture during that era? It is huge. The Romans than took from the Muslims knowledge of buildings and built their own coliseum.

How would they know in their Zohar that they would get revenge if they were no Prophet told them to add to scripture? They even changed Mizraim to Egypt. Freemasonry----"free world" actions without consequences such as lies added with the word masonry which is to build architecture to create their own religion, that's what it means.

People don't just think up Armageddon when they use swords to fight each other I believe.

It is better for America to be divided based on class than united through one leader. Remember that they want as many as they can get to work for them. You don't control that much if at all but hope for it to be Democrat vs. Republican and plenty of anti war activists who protest working because of their wages or war. They could declare war on Muslims here and that is a good sign that Christians are next not that it matters. If things are to go down here and war breaks down here which could be intentionally caused, don't even bother just get on a plane and go to the Middle East.

There is no Jew that does not live by the Torah. These Jews are good people and are nice to the public. Jews are taught not to rebel and they got it right, we don't harm Jews ever and they are allowed to return but not in masses since that would mean they are taking land from someone else. These Jews are called Orthodox Jews or referred to as True Torah Jews. This also includes the Haredi Jews who are great people and I can't thank them enough. Their symbol would be a Menorah. Humbly, God also has it all figured out since the Jews are forbidden from having their own country but are allowed to live anywhere. They are only allowed if first their Messiah because God knows a percentage of people will not think Jesus is their Messiah and they are waiting on comes and it must be run by their Jewish Theological government or whatever is given to us three followers of Abraham. They have to go by Christian and Muslim laws because they live in our nations. We are not allowed to violate them and we have to accept them in our nation. This is why Hitler had Jewish soldiers in the army, they were religiously required to fight to defend their nation and they knew Hitler was not going to force them to leave. Those Jews got it right, now you know why Hitler had trusted Jewish bodyguards for him; they would tell you that they are Germans. Because of religious law, the ban of Jews in Palestine is illegal meaning those running the West Bank do not serve our best interests. The law also helps us Christians and Muslims because now Judaism has a voice to help us better understand what is going on in Palestine.

In the Kingdom of Khazaria, all their king's names were names from Hebrew. In Wikipedia they try to confuse you by saying that Khazaria had most religions at the time, this is true but as a very small minority because they allowed all other religions like the enemy does today. I am certain the number of Jews in Khazaria was around 98%. They call themselves Ashkenazi Jews because of the land of Ashkenaz. They are not the 12 tribes but were allowed to be Jews, they are just converts. It was not an error on the Rabbi's part to give them the religion. A small portion of around 5% of the Jews were real Jews, the rest were talmudists.

It will be difficult at times but this will make you both better, we work together. She is there to help you too with working with other women in the real world, also when you have a rough day but that doesn't apply to me necessarily because I usually just vent or rip on the other person behind their back. The worse it has ever become was me punching a bathroom door for half an hour when a teacher yelled at me unfairly. It didn't cause many bruises, wasn't as serious as it sounds.

I have no issue paying the Jizyah because it is going to good use but I see no point because we are on the same team so there is no point for it. I don't request your protection; I want an ally not a protector. I don't think it applies to us. How is the tax a bad thing? Don't you pay for the military here in the US? The money goes towards Islam, not the soldiers which everyone would prefer.

I think Islam is specifically meant to cover the Arab world but people are allowed to convert of course. I am saying this without directly saying "for Arabs." Islam has and will always be for all to convert to if they choose to. It is intended for Arabs in Arab land the same way Christianity is intended for Europe and America. The land of Palestine is the Palestinians land which they earned. I don't delegitimize those in Asia who are Muslim because they too will be fighting these wars alongside us. I will be obeying their orders in war. This is how the plan works; Arabs were given Islam in the Middle East, they were trusted with it. I am saying this because I believe there are ranks hence Ayatollahs and Arabs will be leading the charge but that's not to say a Muslim in Asia cannot surpass most if not all of those stationed in the Middle East. They know the land and they've been in wars. Anyone who supports us, Abrahamic religions are intended for them or else they are hurting the religion with their arrogance. All I have, and will ever be accustom to are churches.

These same Muslims fought in a rebellion amongst each other (somewhere in 1000) to end discrimination against non Muslims in the Middle East, they go by interpretation to do what they think is best for Islam, this was not to help or oppress others in any way. I agree with the perspective that the wars were only meant for Arabia but because of an unjustly killed Muslim diplomat, they had fought the entire Byzantine Empire until it collapsed, this led to over 700 years of war. Muhammad promised that he would get them back and he did just that. I take no issue with this because war united Europe and formed our kingdoms. Muhammad was referring to the Christians and Jews in Arabia that had sided with the Byzantine Empire (which owned part of Arabia) when he meant expelling, he viewed them as traitors or he felt that they would claim persecution so it would never work at that time, we are past that now. It was a misunderstanding; obviously Muhammad would appreciate if I were to visit his grave to give him thanks.

The "gospel of Barnabas" is a forgery. First it lists Prophet Muhammad's name and then it talks about how someone else was crucified, it would not contain both in it. With regards to the Ahmadmiyya movement, the British could do that back then; people would not believe you today if you did that nor would you; that looks terrible for the religion. This is not at all accepted from both Christians and Sunni-Shiite's; that would wreck relations today. The point I'm making is that if it is just to confuse people to wreck the empire, it is still wrong to do it is corruption your means would not be legitimate, you make enemies that way. I get it too that you want to confuse the enemy and divide their empire, but you don't do that to try to pass off fake Holy texts or alter people's faiths. Some may allow this, I don't because you had Christians living in the Ottoman Empire; they would be upset if they found out about it. Or maybe people would just laugh it off when they found out, I personally would not do it. God would not laugh this off if you did not explain later on that you were responsible. Personally, I will tell you that there is too much controversy for me to be a part of Ahmadmiyya movement.

The foundation of Islam is having manners and being nice. One guy commented that it is like you're destroying the Holy Sites in Islam.

I have to decide what a major sin is and what is very minor because it is listed in the Hadith which are major sins and they are interpreting the Quran. We know not all sins are equal, God gave us instincts. I am thinking in Christian terms because there are things I would never rob a bank.

You cannot by logic say "nothing is impossible" because overthrowing God is impossible. We found something that is impossible, you cannot replace God. You can tell someone that that their goals are possible when mocking a Prophet are possible such as uniting a country whether sarcastic or not because there is still time for them to accomplish more than Muhammad though near impossible for anyone of any time to do. Even if this person were to claim that Muslims were dumb, he still could not beat God's numbers of followers in Islam. This person wouldn't even have to claim to be a Prophet of God, just say you speak on God's behalf when you clearly don't, you even copy others previously created ethics. Actually, it is not possible to accomplish more than a Prophet, you can rank them if you want but they are all Prophets. Muhammad must have known he would at the very least he would conquer Arabia. It's the same thing if someone tried to exterminate all Christians and dispose of all Bibles while censoring the internet. Not one of those things can be done; there is no percentage that says you can. Humans cannot be controlled nor can the Earth.

God will not send another Prophet because there would be people flooding in from everywhere to meet him. It would be chaos between people hitting each other to get by and cameras everywhere. Everyone from most of the world would stop work immediately because the word would spread overnight. The whole country would be flooded with people and would cost tens of thousands of dollars to walk into the country, not out of favors or funding but prevention from getting people in. Or they wouldn't be believed and the message wouldn't get across until hundreds of years later. That's how I know I will never be a Prophet.

You cannot find the separation of salt and fresh water in a scroll after the Flood. This means someone wrote it down, probably Muhammad. They had a lot of books back then that were destroyed as a result of war. Some Prophet wrote it down unless if you think Noah brought books along which I seriously doubt. These people could not have had the technology back then to discover this material. Even then, how did the Flood happen and why did it happen? No one but Noah knew it was coming. How was Noah able to build it? There would have been other ships just like it if the technology were there; it would not have been the only ship to survive the Flood. We know Adam and Eve came from tablets which cannot be broken; humans cannot create those tablets even before the Flood. God chose what stories you got since he Flooded the earth.

Definitions with Explanations-

Prayer- connection with God. This is to show him that you are there for him and that you believe; it is required daily. God hears our prayers. You can say your own prayer but there are plenty to choose from, one is not weighed over the other.

Sin- this is an act against the will of God whether intentional or not. Sins are forgiven by followers as long as the person apologies. God forgives if you repent to him so he can forgive your sins. I am uncertain if you must admit wrongdoing to others but it is preferred. We all define major and minor sins; there are some disagreements amongst followers on a few actions that can be considered sin. For some of it, I did not judge though I am allowed to. You are also allowed to keep secrets, this is best for both of us. I too have sinned in the past; we learn that's what is important. Sin means you were pushed further away from God, so at some point we will all be pushed further away if by accident or by misfortune. It is true that sinless means perfect which angels and Prophets are meaning they cannot be pushed further away if they try.

Halal- Allowed, divorce for example

Haraam- does harm to society, this is also sin.

Holy Spirit- this is a Divine communication with humans where God communicates with us. We do not speak to God directly, God calls us. We have a gift that is given from within. For example, the Holy Spirit was used when I yelled at someone after a court altercation, it came out of me, I couldn't help but yell back, yet I tried not to. The Holy Spirit has your back; we all have our own depiction of it. This is our communication with God, without it, we cannot call on God to teach us to improve and help you remember what is needed when you need it most. On our worst days, we say, "God help me" and the Holy Spirit is right there for us to calm us down. God will never leave us. Jesus described the Holy Spirit as the "Advocate" and "Helper"; I cannot agree more with his statement. It is a whisper that is within you. The Holy Spirit also brings love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control. I can tell who has it because their eyes light up and they get engaged. The Holy Spirit also is a whisper there was an instance where I was naming the Prophets and the Holy Spirit gave me one more. One final example I can provide you with is that the Holy Spirit was an imaginary friend for me that was a teenage version of me on a motorcycle that I looked up to.

Repent- feel remorse for your wrongdoing. God requests you to apologize to him; he will forgive you for it though others may not.

Reality- What's in front of you, what you have to work with example low paying job.

Fate- What you will achieve, who you are. This also determines your destiny on here and Hereafter, where you are headed hereafter.

Sharia Law- how our brains function such as workers rights. Examples that are condemned by both us and our Lord are hippies, gangsters, lying, or hypocrisy. Islam is not political, it is truth so is Sharia Law (which extends to Jews and Christians). This is the attempt they try to make Islam not seem like a religion. Since it says there is no compulsion, you don't have to abide by any of it.

Justice- this is the righteous action, right and wrong. Justice is always good. Enemies often write their own justice as they do not accept laws that are written by every country in this world. Laws are there to protect the public. Leaders want laws to gain support.

Islam- along with Muslim means that you submit to God along with doing prayer, you believe and accept our Lord

Mujahidin- committing a sin openly or disclosing it to other people

Faith- confidence in what we hope for and assurance about what we do not see. Faith can be strengthened by effort, charity, and by better understanding of Scripture. There are different levels of faith, to improve your faith, put in the work.

Faith is your connection with God. As long as you believe are kind and pray, you have a connection with God.

Kingdom of god- Jeshu invented this as he wanted to rule Palestine, he believed he was a god and the kingdom he ran would be a godly kingdom as his throne. The way of achieving Jeshu and his apostle's political goals of a false gospel was by righteousness, peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit.

Parable- this is a moral lesson which is meant to be related by all generations.

Gentile- Someone who is not of Arab heritage that had accepted Christ. Previously, people thought only those of Arab heritage were the only ones who could accept Christ as the Messiah. Paul found Christ and had convinced the Apostles for all to be given Christ "for all are one in Christ".

Trinity- a man made explanation for the ability of God that is false, I can only try to explain God to you; I cannot teach you how to better understand our God. This is mistaken though people who are falsely led still pray to God. It has led many Christians into "three" when there is only one God the Father. This is holding them back in faith with Allah. It is best that they not speak of it, it is better for them.

Tithe- ten percent of your earnings to go to charity, you are giving a tithe (awfully close to a tenth) if you do this.

Names- a Rabbi is a Jewish scholar or teacher who teaches the law. The earliest Christians were Apostles who were missionaries. We use Disciple, Priest, Preacher, or Follower (follower is not generally used for a teacher). Muslims use Imam. All three refer to each other as brothers and sisters.

The star of Bethlehem- that is the brightest star in the night. It is visible and it stands out. Its purpose is to guide you. Abraham and Magi have seen this star; it has been around since the beginning of time. Both Abraham and the Magi jumped with joy when they saw it.

7 Deadly Sins, why they are deadly-

Lust- If you have too much lust such as love for money, you could end out stealing, the wrong person will end your life if you steal from them.

Wrath- too much anger will get you to rebel against God. If done so, you could go out and join a rebellion against God such as Vladimir Lenin did. He hated Christian Russia that God had created.

Sloth- you can end out living out in the streets with nothing to eat, this is bad.

Pride- too much pride will lead you to betray God or to think that you are better than God.

Envy- if you envy someone else, you could end out looking for every reason as to why you are better than them. This could mean taking money from someone else and selling drugs putting your life at risk.

Liquid death the seltzer is a drink tastes exactly like Coors light. It is marketed as alcohol writing “light” knowing what they are trying to market. People who drink this mostly are alcoholics trying to get a fix.
